

Wilson Safe Company and Nova Investments, LLC launch safe and vault industry's only remotely controlled and fully networked cash handling solution for loss prevention

Washington, DC – April 17, 2006. Nova Investments, LLC and Wilson Safe Company concluded a co-development and distribution alliance for the sale and support of a patent-pending smart safe and vault technology called the Alpha Cash Management Solution (AlphaCMS). AlphaCMS allows a single manager to remotely control and audit cash, safe and vault activity in multiple retail locations from a central office.

With AlphaCMS, a manager can remotely dispense till cash to tellers or cashiers at the beginning of a shift and remotely count and secure cash in a safe or vault from tellers at the end of a shift. AlphaCMS nearly eliminates the time and resources required to dispense, accept, audit and secure cash by providing real-time visibility and control over all cash-handling operations. In addition, AlphaCMS eliminates theft and shrinkage. The system is specially designed for retail, grocery, payday advance (loan), check cashing and banking applications. It integrates with most popular point of sale (POS), cash register and back office accounting systems. AlphaCMS cash cassettes can also be managed by armored car services.

AlphaCMS offers remote operation features not available in other recycler or dispenser products. AlphaCMS's price is about 50% less than most cash recycling solutions. The technology is reliable, utilizing systems from Fujitsu and JCM with thousands of such systems installed nationally and abroad.

“Customers will realize an immediate and tangible benefit from AlphaCMS,” said Andrei Dorenbaum, managing principal of Nova Investments, LLC, “because managers in each store location will no longer need to be involved in starting tills (cash drawers) and reconciling tills.” “All cash drawer and till activity can be remotely controlled by one person from a centralized remote location.” he added, “Just imagine the savings that centralization offers to a customer with 100 stores and a different manager at each store performing that same repetitive function.”

“We believe that AlphaCMS represents the next generation of loss prevention and safe cash handling automation,” commented Ray Wilson, President of Wilson Safe Company, “our safe and vault customers will see a significant return on investment in terms of a reduction in management time devoted to overseeing cash operations and a reduction of cash related losses and theft.”
